Dolores Buttry
Professor of Foreign Languages

Dr. Buttry graduated in 1962 and received her undergraduate degree from Illinois State University where she was awarded ISU's first Fulbright Scholarship. This was the beginning of her love of foreign languages. She received a Master's Degree in German at the Johannes Gutenberg University in Mainz Germany and a Master's in French from ISU. Dr. Buttry earned her first Ph.D. in Comparative Literature and a second Ph.D. in French. She has taught foreign language her entire life and has published articles on French, Norwegian, German and Irish literature and has presented more than 50 papers in America, England, Ireland, Poland and Norway.
